Head Golf Professional: Brent Goodman

The Thornhill Club

When Stanley Thompson designed the course in 1922, he took a magnificent piece of land and turned it into a masterpiece that, to this day, provides a challenging test of golf for any player. Strategically placed bunkers, subtly breaking greens and elevated tees force you to use every club in your bag. In short: it requires a perfect blend of both skillful mastery and subtle creativity, bringing out only the best in those who play it. Mr. Thompson would have wanted it that way.
